

How to edit an existing dataset.

Step-by-step guide on how to edit an existing dataset.

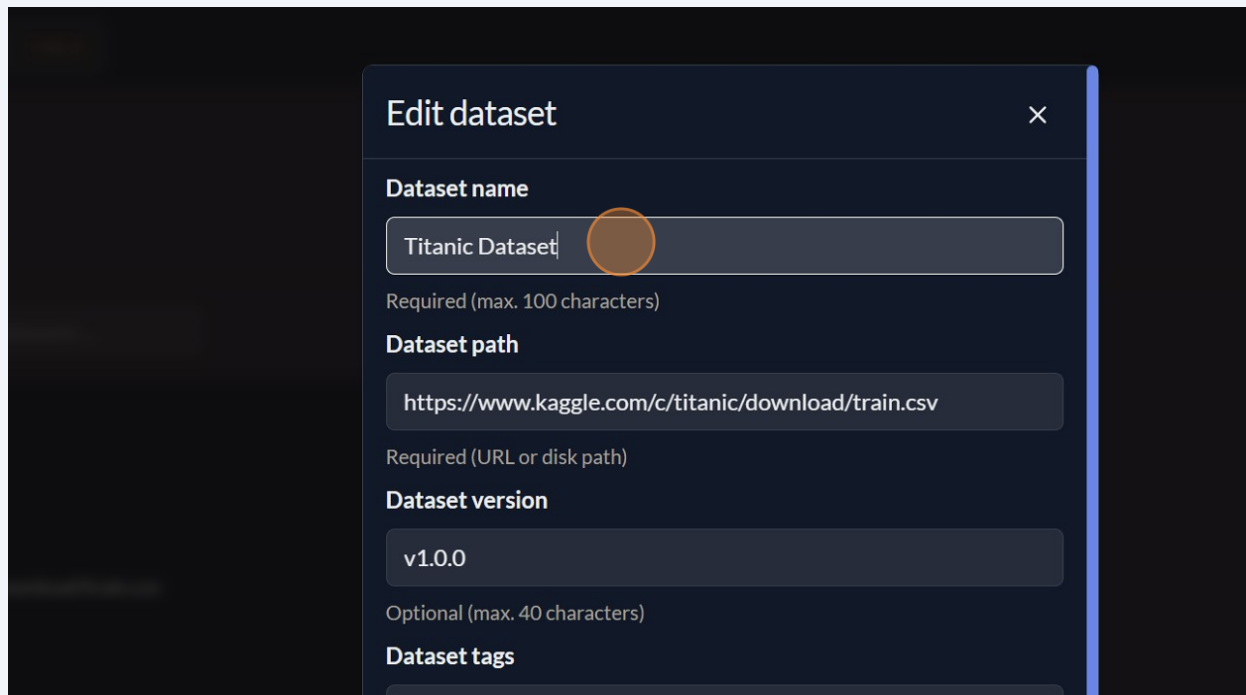

1 Navigate to <http://localhost:3000/datasets>.

2 Click on Dataset actions and click Edit dataset information.

i To edit an existing dataset you must change at least one of its parameters (name, path, version, tags or description).

3 Edit Dataset name field.

The screenshot shows a dark-themed 'Edit dataset' modal window. It contains four input fields: 'Dataset name' with the text 'Titanic Dataset' and a blue circle highlighting the end of the text; 'Dataset path' with the URL 'https://www.kaggle.com/c/titanic/download/train.csv'; 'Dataset version' with the text 'v1.0.0'; and 'Dataset tags' which is currently empty. Each field has a label and a description of its requirements below it.

6 Edit Dataset tags field.

The screenshot shows the Kaggle dataset edit interface. The 'Dataset tags' field is highlighted with an orange circle. The form includes the following fields:

- Dataset URL: `https://www.kaggle.com/c/titanic/download/train.csv2` (Required (URL or disk path))
- Dataset version: `v1.0.2` (Optional (max. 40 characters))
- Dataset tags: `Classification` (Optional (max. 150 characters, comma separated))
- Dataset description: `Titanic dataset ...` (Optional (max. 500 characters))

An 'Update dataset' button is visible at the bottom right.

Dataset tags are optional, but cannot be longer than 150 characters, and different values should be separated by commas!

7 Edit Dataset description field.

The screenshot shows a dark-themed user interface for editing a dataset. On the right side, there is a vertical panel with several input fields. The first field is labeled 'Dataset version' and contains the text 'v1.0.2'. Below it is a label 'Optional (max. 40 characters)'. The next field is labeled 'Dataset tags' and contains the text 'Classification, .csv'. Below it is a label 'Optional (max. 150 characters, comma separated)'. The third field is labeled 'Dataset description' and contains the text 'Titanic dataset ...'. Below it is a label 'Optional (max. 500 characters)'. At the bottom right of this panel is a blue button labeled 'Update dataset'. A blue vertical scrollbar is visible on the right edge of the panel. A brown circular callout with a white dot in the center points to the 'Titanic dataset ...' text in the 'Dataset description' field.

 Dataset description is optional, but cannot be longer than 500 characters.

8 Click Update dataset button.

The screenshot shows a dark-themed form for updating a dataset. It includes the following sections:

- Dataset version: A text input field containing 'v1.0.2'. Above it is a label 'Required (URL or disk path)'.
- Dataset tags: A text input field containing 'Classification, .csv'. Above it is a label 'Optional (max. 40 characters)'.
- Dataset description: A larger text input field containing 'Titanic dataset 2...'. Above it is a label 'Optional (max. 500 characters)'. A small icon is visible in the bottom right corner of this field.
- Update dataset button: A blue button with the text 'Update dataset' and a circular arrow icon, highlighted with a blue circle.

9 And there you go!
